NOTES ON CURRENT EVENTS.

A. J. MacKee, Cape Cod "crabber king," has purchased a large tract of New Jersey bog land and will make a cranberry bog of it.

Rockland will be asked to build a new eight-room school building the coming summer owing to the crowded condition of its schools.

The Montreal trolley strike ends in an increase of ten per cent. in the wages of conductors and motormen.

Lyman Gilchrist and Ralph Pater, aged 11 and 12 years, were the victims of a hole in the ice at Weymouth on Friday last. The bodies were recovered the next day.

A. H. Bacon, a lawyer practicing in the courts at Dedham last week was suspended for two years by Judge Pierce.

Coldest, Marshfield, Duxbury and Kingston each and all have brass bands and one new band organized at Scituate will make a complete line.

Mrs. Herbert F. Hicks of Attleboro knocked down and robbed near her home Saturday night.

The meeting of coal miners at Indianapolis last week resulted in a wage scale being adopted for the coming year and soft coal miners got an advance of ten per cent.

Contracting tappers at Attleboro have met the demands of employers with an increase of $2.00 a week in wages and a reduction in hours of labor.

It is said that Charles Schwab will resign his position as president of the United States Steel Corporation. If the salary is to remain the same, $100,000, there are probably others who would like it.

Henry Norwell of the well-known dry goods house of Shepard & Norwell and for whom the town of Norwell was named, died in Florida last week.

Robert Maloney died in St. Louis last week. For forty-seven years he was the trusted messenger of the American Express Co., carrying money to banks and corporations. He handled millions and no dollar entrusted to his care went astray.

The Society Islands in the Pacific have been swept by a tidal wave which destroys plantations and upwards of 100 people are supposed to have perished in the flood.

Thomas L. Bruce, ex-superintendent of the Lincoln schools and well-known among the educators of the state, died on Sunday.

The school committee of Weymouth has voted to hereafter, when a female teacher makes a mistake in spelling, to have the word spelled out for her.

The naval affairs committee in Congress recommended doubling the number of midshipmen at Annapolis to order to meet the demand for more officers in the navy.

The war in Belgium is still on and Colonel Harnish and Litchfield are continuing their efforts for damages in a recent encounter and it is feared this war will prove fatal to the license column at March meeting.

Striking bakers at Springfield are making an effort to start a co-operative bakery.

Thirty-seven shawmays were discovered on the steamer Commonwealth while she arrived at her dock on Monday, and after having been crammed up in a water tight compartment for the entire trip, the poor fellows were given an airing and will be taken back.

Peter Hubery, a 13-year old lad of Fitchburg, lost his life on Monday while trying to rescue a comrade who had broken through the ice.

The city council of Worcester has raised the salaries of messengers, clerks and assessors making the minimum and maximum salaries $1,400 and $2,000.

Signor Pico, a Geneva engineer has an invention by which he can see the bottom of the ocean at a depth of 1,500 feet. What next?

The Vanderbilt cottage at Newport is for rent the coming season as Mr. and Mrs. Vanderbilt will not spend the summer at that popular resort.

In thirty years not a selectman, town clerk or treasurer of Hingham has been opposed for re-election and Hewitt C. Hines, the present chairman of the board of selectmen has been on that board for 34 years and no doubt at the coming meeting will be elected for another term.

The air at Lynn is full of the odor of stale eggs which are used to infestinate new employees in the steel factories.

Capt. Dwight O. Judd of Holyoke is elected Department Commander of the U. S. A. R. for Massachusetts.

Steamer Madras with a large party of New England excursionists to Bermuda is a total loss. All hands saved.

An Autumn Walk.

[By Lee Pick. W. H. S. '03]

Autumn is my favorite season for then nature is arranged in her gayest attire. A walk in the woods at the close of a long Indian summer is a great pleasure to me. The leaves have begun to get old and dry but nature, as if in recompense, gives to them most beautiful colors.

Many leaves, torn by the cruel wind from the mother tree, lie scattered over the ground. Their colors blend together in such a way as to delight the eye of the most fastidious artist while their soft rustle furnishes material for life dreams. They seem to tell stories and surpass all instruments made by man, in playing accompaniments to the nature-lover's thoughts.

The birds' nests are no longer hidden from view, but are exposed to the wind, the storm, and the naughty boy who spends his Saturday holiday in robbing the poor little birds of their homes.

If only each would think his birds must feed when they return at night and must find their nests gone—ah! their labor wasted just to furnish an idle boy with amusement; if they would just try to realize the plight of these homeless ones.

There and there a little brook flowing on with its never ceasing murmur, bears with it a great quantity of bright leaves and twigs, broken from some dying tree.

The frogs' hollow is filled with decaying leaves which cover the hibernating frog until spring with its warm sunshine again raises all their bliss.

In the distance a dark green pine needles among the bright leaves of an oak. The pine is just receiving her glory—the oak is being robbed of hers.

Remember, in resting your hand for a moment on a tree, you feel something cold and clammy that makes an agitated hop at your touch and on looking closer you find a tree-toad. Clinging motionless to the tree and being of nearly the same color, he had failed to attract your attention.

The moss on the rocks is turning brown and the skeletons of the huge lily has sheltered all summer are left uncovered on the rock.

The setting sun sends the shining sunbeams for a little while as if he had almost come up to the light sought for end of the rainbow, now faded and radiant are the different hues. As we turn homeward we feel at peace with all the world.

These few hours, spent in absorbing the beauties of nature, seem sufficient recompense for all the trials and tribulations of the world and we return to our evening study feeling that chemistry, Latin, history and even geometry has a new meaning.

Seaside Music Hall.
The first production in Boston of the new sensational and stirring story melodrama, "Why Women Sin," will occur at Seaside Music Hall next week. The new drama, which has made a big hit wherever it is shown, is in five acts and several scenes and is the work of W. H. C. Murphy, a well known newspaper man who has drawn a careful picture of an intrigue in New York society founded upon facts. The play shows the undercurrent of emotions of the bourgeoisie of the ocean at a depth of 1,500 feet. What next?

Didn't Know His Own Child.
At Anfield, just after the artillery had been sharply engaged, the Hockridge (Va.) battery was standing waiting orders. General Lee rode by and stopped a moment. A dirty fellow drove about seventeen said to him:

"General, are you going to put us in again?"

Think of such a question from such a source to the general of the army, especially when that general's name was Lee!

"Yes, my boy," the steady officer kindly answered, "I have to put you in again. But what has your father done?"

"I don't wonder you didn't know me," laughed the lad, "I'm so dirty. But I'm a boy."

It was the general's youngest son, whom he had thought safe at the Virginia Military Institute. "Good-bye you, my son; do your duty," and the general rode on.

DAMES AND DAUGHTERS.

Miss Zelle de Lussan announces her early retirement from the opera house. She is to marry and will live in New York.

Mrs. Helen Thornton Campbell, who has just died in Brooklyn, left $100,000 to Buffalo homes for worthy poor. She was formerly a resident of that city.

Mrs. Mary Wright of Bloomfield has been appointed state district commissioner of Colorado by Governor Peabody. She is the first woman to hold the office.

Isabelle Beecher Hooker, the youngest daughter of that saintly theologian and pastor, Lyman Beecher, will marry in a short time her eighty-first birthday.

Miss Katherine Connor, professor of economics at Wellesley college, has returned from the Hawaiian Islands. She has been absent from the institution since last June.

Miss Jennie H. Smith, who for a year or more has been deputy clerk of the United States circuit and district courts at Minneapolis, has resigned. She will go to Fargo, N. D., to become the private secretary to Judge Amidon of the United States district court.

Miss Frances Power Cobbe recently celebrated her eightieth birthday. For eighteen years Miss Cobbe has been honorary secretary of the society she founded to oppose vivisection, and for the last four years she has been president of the British Union for the Abolition of Vivisection.

Mrs. Frank Le Grande, wife of an English writer employed by the Southern Pacific company, has, it is said, received information confirming her right to a one-third interest in an estate worth $20,000,000. This was fortune was left by Mrs. Le Grande's grandmother, who lived in Holland.

TIMELY TOPICS.
As soon as the excellent French learned that Mrs. Humbert had written a book on the subject of the women's movement, they began to laugh. "Strepia Nona."

Leaky boilers in ocean steamships may be perfectly safe under certain conditions, but the public confidence is very apt to leak through them. "Baltimore American."

Admiral Dewey believes that the American navy was never so fully prepared for war as at present. This being the case there is no reason why we should not have peace. "Washington Post."

More money is being turned into the "couscous" fund at Washington every year. Either the American conscience is becoming better or more people with imbecile consciences are stealing each year. "St. Louis Post-Dispatch."

A second lieutenant has commanded the war department, and everything else that is military to show cause why he should lose about seventy-five numbers in the race for promotion. There is business well as the perfecting of arms and the young man is entitled to his day in court. "Minneapolis Times."

POULTRY.
Young chickens in a brooder should be fed every two hours.

To break hens from sitting put them in a coop and feed a fattening ration. Whenever the comb changes color the fowl should be examined for disease or lice.

The roosting place requires three things—cleanliness, good ventilation and good drainage.

A small box of charcoal kept where the fowls can have access to it will serve to absorb discharges of the bowels from overfeeding.

It does not require very much labor to keep the henhouse clean if the work is done in a systematic manner. Fowl dust is an excellent preventive of lice.

LEMONS AND TYPHOID.
Lemonade as a typhoid germ destroyer is better in business by itself. It needs not the assistance of other juices. "Richmond Times."

Lemon juice may do to destroy typhoid fever germs in water until some other scientific reason to tell us what we do not do. "Lynchburg Courier-Journal."

Since the discovery has been made that lemon juice will kill typhoid germs a piece of lemon will be regarded as essential. And yet what a reflection that is on the oyster—Hochstetler Democrat and Chronicle.

COLLEGE AND SCHOOL.
During last year there were 430,000 teachers in 240,000 public school buildings in the United States.

Forty of the 240 public school teachers in Washington county, Md., have resigned their positions within a year because of the small salaries that were paid to them.

Weak Heart From Attack of LaGrippe.

Palpitation, Smothering, Short Breath.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure Cured Me.

The terrible effects of LaGrippe are the cause of the heart. Weak hearts are common after the attack of LaGrippe. The heart becomes a weak stomach and the patient will soon become a weak heart. The heart is the engine of the body. It pumps the blood to the organs. If the heart is weak, the blood is not pumped properly. The organs do not get the blood they need. The patient becomes weak and breathless. Dr. Miles' Heart Cure is a powerful medicine. It cures the heart. It gives the heart the strength it needs. It is a cure for all heart diseases. It is a cure for all heart troubles. It is a cure for all heart ailments. It is a cure for all heart problems. It is a cure for all heart diseases. It is a cure for all heart troubles. It is a cure for all heart ailments. It is a cure for all heart problems.
